

Design Your Dream Employer Here:

A large, blank, rounded rectangular box with a dark blue border and a light blue shadow, intended for designing a dream employer.

Your Personal Game Development Guidebook!

>> Enter developer's name here:

>> Welcome to the Gaming team!

>> We're so excited to introduce you to the world of gaming as a brand new developer, but first – we'll need to give you an outline! >>

>> All games need to pass this checklist before we can put them on the app store:

- [] An audience
 - [] Age range intended for
 - [] Genre of game
- [] Levels
 - [] Tutorial level
 - [] Challenges/Obstacles
- [] A playable character
- [] A clear goal or purpose
- [] A win condition
- [] Game name
- [] Logo

Give your game a name!

Who's your main character?

^ Draw your game's logo!

What's the win condition?

Draw your title screen!

Let's go ahead and start laying out our game...

What's your genre?

Who plays your game?

What's your game about?

What device do we play on?

Do you press buttons
on a screen or a device? Draw it!

Health, inventory,
time played, levels,
etc! You think it, you list it!

What is the game keeping track of?

Improvements

No game is done even after release! Think of this as 2.0 of your game!

What design choices would you add?

You can add new enemies or mobs! Think of the newer versions of minecraft!

>> Congratulations!

You've officially launched the prototype of your game!

If you're interested in creating more games, here are some resources to use!

- Scratch

- code.org

- MakeCode Arcade

- Khan Academy

- Roblox Creator Hub

- STEM in Games on YouTube